

ALAN PARADISE

Screenwriter

IMDb: Alan Paradise

Prior to becoming part of the motion picture and television industry, Alan Paradise was an award-winning journalist. This led to him becoming Head Writer and Director of Octane Television. He wrote and directed over 120 television programs in association with NASCAR. He also wrote and directed documentary films for Mattel Toys and Rhino Films. He progressed into feature films when Entertainment Universe, in partnership with Rhino

Films, produced his screenplay "Snake & Mongoose" (released in theaters September of 2013). In addition to "Damsels of Design," Paradise has written "Second Street," "Banzai Runners," "60' 6", and "The Waiting Game." He is also an executive producer of "Two Lane Blacktop" (in pre-production) and the documentary film "The West Coast Influence."
