Energetic, Quirky, Small-Town Gal...With A Bite!

Amy hails from Albuquerque, New Mexico. She grew up with a tennis racket in her hand, traveling around the Southwest competing in tournaments. Once in college she turned her interests to theatre. This led her to live, study, and perform in England for a year. After returning to Albuquerque, she completed her theatre degree and had the honor of being an apprentice at the Rubicon International Theatre Festival in Ventura, CA. As an apprentice, she trained under esteemed teachers from Juilliard and NIDA. On returning home she began her journey into Film and TV. Amy is a hot yogi, foody, bookworm, astronomy enthusiast, and tennis player.
