Mimi Tao's face is seen all over Asia these days, but it's been a rocky road to success for the former temple boy from upcountry.

Flipping through a photo album of her life, Phajaranat Nobantao can't help but shed tears of mixed emotions. On the outside, the 22-year-old transgender model seems to have it all, but her path has not been strewn with roses.

"It wasn't easy to get where I am today, and I'm still not where I really want to be," said Phajaranat, now known as Mimi Tao to the international fashion world. From being a rich kid in early life, to joining the monkhood, to sleeping in a toilet in Singapore, Mimi has been through more than most her age. She says she has never been chasing fame, but rather a way to get her parents out of debt.
