A Los Angeles native, Perry was accepted at the Fashion Institute of Design and Merchandising where he attended for one year before transferring to Los Angeles Trade Technical college. While attending LATT Perry produced a collection of men's wear that was showcased at the world famous Fred Siegel Melrose store. Perry went on to attain his degree in fashion, graduating with the prestigious LATT Gold Thimble Award.

Perry's first collection debuted at Nordstrom and celebrities such as Prince, Macy Grey, Queen Latifah, Snoop Dogg, Dr. Dre, Ice Cube, LL Cool J among others, were lining up to wear the Perry White Collection.

Perry has since gone on to receive an NAACP award as well as a Vogue Award alongside Macy Grey for being the most fashionable artist of the year.
