Trusted to act toe to toe with the best in the business, Pamela Shaddock brings hope and healing to the characters she plays. Luminous, Earthy & Pragmatic, Powerfully Moving, are words that have been used to describe her performances.

A proud Bostonian her passion for acting started locally having landed her first professional jobs while still in high school. After a stint at Emerson College in Boston, she graduated from New York's Adelphi University with a BFA in Theatre Arts.

Pamela spent a number of years on the New York and regional theatre scene before moving to Los Angeles. She's particularly proud of her years spent as a lead actress on the prestigious stages of the Billie Holiday Theatre in Brooklyn, where such notables as Samuel L Jackson, Debbie Allen and Tichina Arnold had humble beginnings.
